

EMILY'S EYES

Words by Julie Miller

Vocal Solo by Julie Miller

Emily's eyes don't cry anymore
Emily's heart has closed up the door
Emily learned a long time ago
How to pretend so the wounds don't show
How to hold it in so nobody will know

Emily's words won't come anymore
When nobody hears you forget what they're for
She prays at night when she goes to sleep
Lord, I pray my soul to keep
Take me away outside of me

(Chorus)

Emily, that was never meant to be
Emily, he was supposed to make you see
Oh Emily, how precious you are
You're beautiful in God's eyes
In God's eyes

Emily lives in her head in a fantasy
Floats high above to a place where it's safe to be
But deep in her soul she's been so defiled
Everybody wonders why she's gone so wild
All she ever wanted was to be a child

(Chorus)

© 1992 Maranatha! Music